Conflicting Views On Events Leading To Property Purchase

By Dick Heuer

Did the Community Center representatives drop the ball in their efforts to buy the adjacent Brownell property to expand the park? Or did the Marquard group ace them out? That is part of the controvery over what is happening with this key parcel. Here we present two conflicting accounts of events leading to Marquard purchase.

Community Center Perspective

Tony Glanville, a director of the Community Youth Center, was the person dealing with Ralph Thompson, the attorney for the Brownell Trust concerning purchase of the property to expand the park. The following account is from Glanville.

On June 6, 1986, Robert Heald, then President of the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center, wrote a letter to Thompson as follows:

"The purpose of this letter is to again express the interest of the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center in acquiring the property immediately east of our existing facility...

"We feel that given enough time and perhaps the benefit of a substantially reduced price which could be written off as a deduction, we could perhaps obtain grant funds to purchase the property...

"Being the only contiguous property which has not been developed, this site is our only hope for room to expand in the future. I hope you will consider my request and communicate with your clients our desire to work with them in this matter."

Thompson did not respond to this letter. On October 9, Glanville telephoned Thompson to again inquire about the property. Thompson told Glanville the owners were interested in selling and had just turned down an offer of $150,000.

Glanville reiterated to Thompson the combined interest of the Youth Center and the Recreation and Park

Marquard Perspective

Ralph Thompson is the attorney representing the Brownell trust in the sale of the property. Thompson's view of discussions that preceded the sale differ substantially from Glanville's perspective.

It was Thompson who informed Mike Marquard of his previous discussions with the Community Center representatives.

Thompson told the Sun, "There isn't anybody in the world I'd rather have the property than the Community Center people. It's a natural. If my clients had given me any authority at all to deal with them, I would have been most happy to do so."

But the Brownell heirs were not interested in making a gift or reducing the cost for the Community Center. In Thompson's mind, "There was never any question. The Community Center did not have the funds with which to make a viable offer to my people. They spoke of making a $10,000 down payment and 'hoping' to be able to pay another $50,000 the first year." Thompson's clients were not interested in that.

Thompson had been trying to sell the property for at least two and a half years. The Community Center people knew the price, he said. "We often talked about prices, ranging from $200,000 to $250,000. The idea that they held up making an offer because they didn't know what we wanted for it is pure bull."

The Community Center didn't make

Marquard Revises Development Plans By Community Center

The Carmel Valley Community Center will be offered an opportunity to buy about three acres of the adjacent five-acre property recently purchased by the Marquard group. A storage facility, rather than a service center for heavy equyipment, is now being planned for the remaining two acres.

Members of the Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District mull over their next step in regard to the recent acquisition of 5 acres of land by Michael Marquard. From left are Debbie Saxton, Thelma Lee (Recording Secretary), Randy Randazzo, President of the CVRP District, Chuck Bosso, and, back to camera, Chuck McKay.

That is the latest word from Mike Marquard, whose development group, Landing at Lahaina, bought the strategically located parcel. Controversy erupted over the purchase, as the Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District also wanted to buy the site to expand the Community Center Park.

Marquard advised the Sun on February 12 that he has abandoned the controversial plan for a service center on the site. He also scaled down the development design to make the largest possible portion of the property available to the Community Center.

Roughly three acres adjacent to the Community Center Park, Village Greens and Carmel Valley Road will be offered for sale to the Recreation and Park District.

Marquard now plans a storage facility on the remaining two acres. It would be an approximately 5,000 square foot building where people can store things in their own rented cubicles.

This is known as a mini-storage or maxi-storage facility. The only difference between mini- and maxi-storage is the size of the cubicle. Marquard said this type storage facility "has zero noise impact, uses little water, and doesn't generate much traffic." A storage facility "would be a nice neighbor for the park."

In separate action, the Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District on February 11 decided unanimously to pursue purchase of the entire five acres from the Marquard group. The board was not aware at the time that Marquard had scaled down his plans and intended to offer three acres to the district.

In that same meeting, the board decided to strongly oppose any commercial development on the adjoining property. Randy Randazzo, president of the district, said, "We need open space and recreation facilities not just for today, but for the indefinite future. That site is our last opportunity."

After learning of Marquard's change in plans, Randazzo consulted with his board and made the following statement: "When the board took the stand of opposing any developlment on this land, we were not aware of any changes in the original development concept. We need to familiarize ourselves with the changes that seem to have been made. We will be willing

History Society Gets Started

The nascent Carmel Valley History Society held its first meeting February 10 in the Fellowship Hall of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

The Sun editorial last month on the need for a local history society elicited 35 responses from interested residents. Twenty-eight persons came to the initial session organized by Dick Heuer, publisher of the Sun.

It was mainly a get-acquainted session. Everyone introduced themselves and described how they could contribute to the goals of a Carmel Valley History Society.

Committees are being formed to work on oral history, collections, exhibits, historic preservation and education. There will also be some form of Executive Committee to do the organizational work, solicit members and raise funds.

Pauline Stanley and Amelie Elkinton, 5th District representatives on the Monterey County Historical Advisory Commission, attended the meeting. So did Virginia Stanton, Chair of Carmel Heritage, the Carmel historical group.

Others present were: Lou Allaire, Leo Berta, Maynard Briggs, Marcia DeVoe, Mary Gayman, Rosalee Gladney, Julia Harvey, Dick and Feesie Heuer, Maxine Kent, Nick Lombardo, Dolores McGlochlin.

Joel Panzer, Frank Quilty, Fawn Nicholson, Marilyn Raynes, Bernard and Mrs. Schulte, Jay and Mrs. Sharp, Fred Stanley, Chuck Strathmeyer, Judy Sulsona, Susanne Villucci, and Roger Williams.

When I slow down long enough to smell the roses, I usually see the beauty and all else that is ours to share.

Vandals Damage #718 Fire Pumper

#718, the 1948 Pumper given so generously to the community by the Carmel Valley Fire Department Volunteers, has been in place in Community Center Park for less than a week. Few children have yet had a chance to climb aboard and play firefighter.

It almost seems as if the vandals were waiting. They cared not for the many hours of planning and hard labor that Fire Department and Community Center volunteers expended to prepare the sand lot for the Fire Truck. They cared not that the damage they did and the equipment they stole will keep the community's children from enjoying #718 until it's repaired...if it can be repaired.

No, they simply didn't care, and that's why #718 is now blind in one eye...a gaping hole with loose wires where once there was a bright and shiny light.

The vandals and thieves took #718's voice. The siren is gone, carefully "unwelded" from its base. The bright spotlight on the driver's side is gone; ripped painfully from the graceful round chrome fixture that held it in place. They scratched #718's windshield, badly marring the tough skin. The chrome rim of the missing headlight is twisted and bent, tossed carelessly over part of the structure in the driver's compartment. The red light atop the truck is gone.

Last week, #718 was a sight to behold...proud, gallant, ready to spend its

An Open Letter To Chris Engel

We who drive back and forth on the Carmel Valley Road very much appreciate and enjoy Mr. Chris Engel's beautiful, handcrafted work. For Valentine's Day, there is a lovely red heart; for Christmas, the word JOY; for Thanksgiving, a Cornucopia spilling out its abundance. Mr. Engel's artistry is apparent at other times of the year, too, and it pleases everyone who passes by.

Truly, Mr. Engel, you are the Valley's Valentine—and we are most grateful that you care enough to share your considerable talents with us all.

Mrs. Tor Spindler

ED. NOTE: Mr. Engel's work does indeed please everyone, and the "Sun" hopes to do a feature article on him in the near future.

Deplores Used Car Lot At Village Entrance

Dear Editor:

I am happy that the used car lot under the oak tree in the center of town has closed, but now our citizens have opened up Car Lot #2 at the entrance of the Village.

There are places where people can put their vehicles—a dealership, for example, where the vehicle will be sold for a small amount or a commission. A small ad in the paper doesn't cost that much. I put my vehicle at Deal Direct in town for viewing because I didn't want to make my home town look like a used car lot.

I believe my fellow citizens can do this, too. Just put a small ad in the paper, but park your vehicle at home. Meet your clients, if you have to, in the Village.

Let's keep our great little town as clean as we can by starting out with the biggest eyesores first.

Thank you.

An Appalling Idea!

Dear Editor:

What an appalling idea!

To put a service center on that magnificent piece of land East of Valley Greens and The Youth Center.

It shows absolutely no consideration for the integrity of the already developed pattern of the area: Valley Greens, residential; The Youth Center, recreational; the Library, cultural; The Oleander Garden Shop, beautiful. Not one of these existing situations can profit from the noise of trucks or the smell of carbon monoxide fumes.

We should be eliminating existing eyesores, as possible, not creating new ones.

Do we really want the West entrance to Carmel Valley Village to begin looking like the junky entrances of a thousand other small California towns?

I understand there are five parcels of land where this service center could be placed. Surely one of these can handle this kind of service center with maximum discretion.

There are other kinds of profit than money and other ways to profit from land use than to exploit it for money.

Did Parks and Recreation put in the first bid on this property? Their use would extend the already existing Youth and Community Center facility and grounds so that an entire community—rather than a small number of people—could profit from it.

A community has a lot of clout, if it wants to exercise it. We saved the trees along the Carmel Valley Road (for the time being), let's save this land for all our enjoyment.

Open Letter To Danielle Wall

Dear Ms. Wall,

I enjoyed your article in the Sun about the art and crafts program at Tularcitos.

I taught art and crafts at Carmel Middle School for 28½ years and retired 4 years ago. So far, the school district has not hired an art teacher to take my place, and I've watched the program I developed go down the tubes.

Perhaps with articles like yours, art can again be an important priority in Carmel schools, so thanks for your interest and concern.

Homeowners Association Objects To Proposed Use Of Neighboring Property

Note: A copy of the following letter, addressed to 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kaufman, was sent to the "Sun" for publication.

This letter is written on behalf of the Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Village Green Homeowners Association. As you are undoubtedly aware, our Association represents the twenty-two units in Village Green, a planned unit development located at the corner of Carmel Valley and Ford Roads.

We are informed that the five plus acre parcel immediately adjacent to our development, sometimes referred to as the Brownell 5 acres, APN 187-421-04, has recently been purchased by Landing at Lahaina, a Hawaii partnership. We further understand that the new owners propose to use the property for mini and bulk storage as well as for a "service center" for the storage of septic tank trucks, heavy construction vehicles, and other commercial vehicles.

On behalf of our Association, we object in the strongest terms possible to the proposed use of our neighboring property. While we realize that a "service center" in the Carmel Valley is an approved concept in the new Master Plan, we are also aware that the Plan also lists five sites which may meet the criteria for a "service center," and that this property is not one of those sites. For the Planning Commission, Building Department, or the Board of Supervisors to even consider approving such a use at this location seems irresponsible to us, particularly in light of its immediate proximity to a residential subdivision.

As neighbors to this site, we may have selfish motives, in that such a use would significantly lower our property values. As residents of a larger community, however, we have a responsibility to insure that development within our neighborhood is consistant with overall community needs. Some of those needs, as addressed at page 29 of the Master Plan, are that any service center have "low visibility, safe and unobtrusive access away from pedestrian traffic areas, low noise impact on surrounding uses," and "conform to all other Plan requirements." This proposed location for a service center strikes out on all counts.

First, this site is highly visible, not only from surrounding properties, but due to its proximity on Carmel Valley Road at the entrance to the Village. Secondly, access to the property is directly in pedestrian traffic areas. Moreover, those access areas are mostly trafficked by children, with the Community Youth Center and Tularcitos School being the immediate neighbors. Further, the noise and air pollution that would result from such a service center is incompatible with surrounding residential uses.

We are also disturbed by the actions of the new owner to date. Having the grading contractor work with lights well into the night necessitated some homeowners having to call the Sheriff to request that they stop disturbing the peace. Failure to replace the barrier across the access road, despite a request to the grading contractor to do so, has necessitated at least five phone calls by homeowners to the Sheriff to disband motorcycle riders and other off road vehicles for using the parcel for a dirt track late at night. We further feel that considerably more yards of earth were moved in the recent grading operation than is permitted without a grading permit.

While we reject the proposed use of this property as a service center, we concur with the position of the Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District that an expansion of the existing park would be a use entirely consistent with the needs of the community.

We wish to join in the mounting opposition to the proposed uses of this property, and respectfully request your support and investigation into this matter. It is also requested that we be promptly advised of any application or public meeting involving the proposed uses of this property.

We appreciate your support, representation and consideration in this matter.

Carmel Valley Village Green
Homeowners Association

Chapel Thrift Shop Is Community's "General Store"

by Grace Darcy

Although the Chapel Thrift Shop is located in, and is part of, the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, its outreach is to the entire community....at least that's how its Coordinator, Marilyn Evans, sees it.

"People think of a Thrift Shop as handling only heavily used clothing," Evans said, "but here, we have just about everything, and everything we have is in good condition."

The Thrift Shop operates out of the spacious second floor of the Chapel's Fellowship Hall on Village Drive at the corner of Paso Hondo in the Carmel Valley Village. The long, bright room is lined with shelves that hold a variety of neatly arranged merchandise. In the center of the room, racks of clothing...for women, men, children, and infants...are placed according to size. In the rear of the room, larger items are kept...a rebounder, an exercycle, kitchenware, etc.

"People don't need to go into town to buy these items; we have them right here," Evans said.

There is a "back room" where all of the donated items are received and sorted. "No one buys out of the back room," Marilyn Evans promised. "As I bring out the items, I mark them. Our customers have first choice; our workers do not."

Because everything is donated, the Thrift Shop requires that all items be scrupulously clean. "If an item is not clean, we don't want it," Evans said. "We do not sell things that are not clean and, believe it or not, we cannot sell out of date items. Our customers want style. Wide legs on trousers along with polyester slacks are out. Since we can't sell them, we don't want them."

The biggest problem facing the Thrift Shop is the lack of volunteers to staff it. "Bodies are our main concern," Evans said. Presently, she has a small staff of volunteers, but they work only one day a month.

"The Thrift Shop needs to be open longer hours so it can serve more people," Evans said, but she cannot extend the shop's hours with the present number of volunteers.

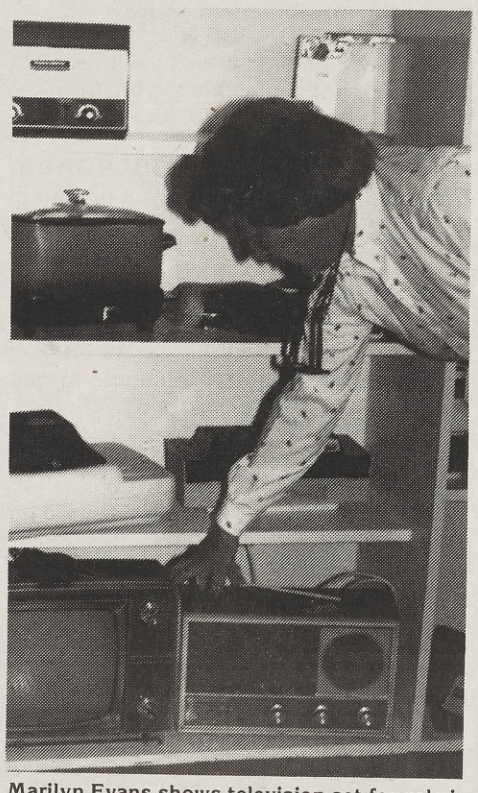
"Some of these people have been working in this Thrift Shop for 25 years. I wouldn't ask them to come in more than once a month," Evans said. "I need more people...people from the community, who can give me, say, half a day per week. Then, we can keep the Thrift Shop open longer hours five days a week."

"People think they have to belong to the Church in order to work here," Evans said, adding "but that simply is not so. Of my present volunteers, four or five are not, nor have they ever been, members of this Church. We are a community organization, and we welcome community involvement."

"The Thrift Shop has looked to people in the community for donations, sought their patronage as customers, and now, hopefully, will recruit them as volunteers," Evans added.

She emphasizes the wide variety of merchandise available at the Thrift Shop. "There are so many items here. Clothing alone would never keep us going, but the sundry items that everyone needs will."

Marilyn Evans feels a special compassion for young mothers and believes that the Thrift Shop can be of great help to them. "We have lovely infant's and young children's clothes, lots of toys, lunch boxes, thermos bottles, strollers, cribs, breast pumps, and even a portable baby bed." Evans ticks off the items one by one, items that are priced well below the prices of other shops in the area.



Marilyn Evans shows television set for sale in appliance section of Community Chapel Thrift Shop. Other items for sale include clothing for all ages, furniture, notions, exercise units, and many "general store" items.

A favorite story is about a young mother of two small children who came into the Thrift Shop looking for inexpensive Christmas toys for her children. She found a toy for her infant, but her blond, blue-eyed 3-year-old, Elena, wanted a tricycle for Christmas.

"We didn't have a tricycle," Evans said, "and so I asked Anne (The Rev. Anne C. Swallow, co-pastor of the Community Chapel) if she would announce the need from the pulpit the following Sunday."

The announcement was made, and within a day or so, a generous couple from the congregation donated a brand new tricycle for Elena. Joyously, Marilyn Evans went to call the mother, but to her horror, she could not find the telephone number.

"I write things on scraps of paper, but I knew it was somewhere in the Shop," she said. "I went through everything and, miracle of miracles, I found it."

The greeting card on the tricycle read, "To Elena from God." The little girl was ecstatic. So was Marilyn Evans.

"They left recently for Alaska," Evans said. "The young woman called me to tell me that the tricycle was packed, ready to go with them. She told me that God's gift to Elena was always with them...a cherished Christmas miracle."

Next to infant's and children's clothing, jeans are a best seller at the Thrift Shop. "You'd pay a fortune for these in a department store," Evans said, "but here you can buy them for a few dollars."

The Thrift Shop indeed offers bargains galore: a lovely quilted spread for $8; Noritake China sold by the setting; regular blouses $1; better blouses $2.50; men's jackets (all in like-new condition) for as low as $4.00 each.

Evans wants to expand the notions and yard goods items. She also wants to expand the time the Thrift Shop is open. Present hours are Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. but her goal is to open the shop on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"We are not in competition with anyone. Other shops are doing their community service, and we are doing ours," Evans said.

All profits from Thrift Shop sales go to the Church where they are used for miscellaneous benevolences, including extensive community and overseas service.

"I want the community to know about this Thrift Shop," Evans said. "From Cachagua to Country Club Drive, this is for everybody."

Are you looking for a bargain? There's this great Thrift Shop on Village Drive...ask for Marilyn Evans.

Park District Adopts Mountain Bike Policy

After numerous public hearings and a seven month trial period, the Board of Directors of the Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District have adopted new policies for mountain bicycle use at Garland Ranch.

As a result of public input and staff recommendations, the following rules were adopted by the Board at their February meeting in an attempt to arrive at a compromise, to provide better separation of trail users, and to address the question of safety and compatibility among user groups:

—Mountain bicyclists can use Garland Ranch Park seven days per week.

—Mountain bicyclists must obtain a single use permit, available at the Visitors' Center, explaining rules and regulations.

—Mountain bicycles use will be restricted to the western portion of the Park and the Snivley's Ridge area.

Mountain bicycles will have access to about 12 miles or 40% of the fire trails in the Park. The remaining 20 miles of trails are for hiking or horse/hiking use only.

All trails will be clearly marked designating the appropriate trail use.

The above rules become effective on March 1, 1987, and will be subject to review in six months. For the remainder of February, the policies for past use will prevail.

National Racewalk Championships Will Be At CV Golf And Country Club

The United States National 50K Racewalk Championships will be held at the Carmel Valley Golf & Country Club on Sunday, February 22, beginning at 7 a.m. The event is being staged under the auspices of The Athletic Congress (TAC), and racewalkers from all over the United States are expected to compete.

The Monterey Peninsula Walk Walk Walk Club is hosting the event.

The course is a 2500 meter loop that runs back and forth on Valley Greens Drive. Racewalking experts consider the course ideal for a fast race because it is paved all of the way and is shaded by trees.

"I wouldn't be surprised if the racewalkers broke the four hour wall for the 50K and established a new world record for the distance," said Giulio de Petra, Carmel, president of the Monerey Peninsula Walk Walk Walk Club.

The 50K race is considered a true trial of strength and endurance, and is a sporting event of epic proportions. Winners of the top five slots in the men's event will qualify for the Men's 50K World Cup race scheduled for May 3 in New York City. These top athletes will compete for a berth on the United States Racewalking team, against teams from Mexico, Italy, Russia, and East Germany.

The main sponsor of the National 50K Racewalk Championship event is Mazola Corn Oil Company, which also will sponsor the World Cup in New York City. Other local supporters, in addition to the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, are the Hidden Valley Music Seminars, the Treadmill Sports Boutique, YMCA of the Monterey Peninsula, and the Kiwanis of Monterey.

Additional information is available at 624-7211 or 372-1143.

District in buying the property. Glanville told Thompson that in order to proceed further, he needed a letter from Thompson saying the property is for sale and giving an asking price. Thompson said he would get back to Glanville on October 13.

Thompson did not respond on October 13. Glanville tried to reach Thompson on the 20th, but he was out of town.

On October 29, Thompson returned Glanville's call and advised he had listed the property with Porter-Marquard for $235,000 and that Mike Marquard had made an offer of $215,000 several hours later.

The following day, Glanville met with representatives of the Community Youth Center, Carmel Valley Recreation and Park District and the Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District. Based on these discussions, Glanville immediately contacted Thompson again to reiterate interest in purchasing the property and to discuss the tax advantages Thompson's client might have in dealing with a public agency rather than a private individual. Thompson responded that one of his clients is an attorney who is well aware of the tax laws.

In summarizing this chronology for the Sun, Glanville said, "We made a sincere effort to buy the property, but we were shut out. Thompson led us to believe his clients were anxious to sell, but he did nothing to facilitate that."

A young man was going to New York on business. His minister asked him to have made there, and bring back with him, a sign that would be hung in front of the church. The obliging young man copied the motto and the dimensions of the sign, but when he arrived in New York, he discovered he had left the memo home. He immediately wired his wife: "Please send motto and dimensions."

A few hours later, a telegram arrived for John Smith signed by Mary Smith. It read: "Unto us a child is born. Two feet wide and six feet long." The receiving operator fainted.

Australia Night Success!

"An Evening in Australia," a film about the continent "down under," was presented by Valley Oaks Travel on February 10, and was a rousing success. Over 130 people attended the event, which also included refreshments and information about Australia.

Winners of round trip tickets to Hawaii were Rodger Weeks and David Moulaison. Stuffed koala bears were won by Joanne Wellborn and Mary Farnham.

Valley Oaks Travel has scheduled a "Mexican Night" on Tuesday, March 17.

February Is Children's Dental Health Month

Using models and posters, children from Sunshine Day-Care, the Chapel Pre-School, and Tularcitos Elementary School, learned about dental health and preventive dentistry through presentations by Dr. Steve Austin, a Carmel Valley dentist.

"Each year, we work to raise the awareness of children regarding the benefits of proper care of their teeth," Dr. Austin said. "By employing fluoride in its various forms with good home care and regular check-ups, the need for fillings and the like can be virtually eliminated. If the child can acquire good habits now, then proper care becomes the status quo, and only needs refinement, not re-learning, as they develop."

Linda O'Campo, Sunshine Day-Care; Linda Ingram, Chapel Pre-School and Judy Leavelle, Tularcitos Elementary School coordinated the demonstrations by Dr. Austin for the over 120 children involved.

This marks the fifth year that the programs have been presented for the pre-school, kindergarten, and third grade students in the Village area.

"The level of sophistication of the educators and parents in our area is reflected in the knowledge and low incidence of disease exhibited by the children," said Dr. Austin.

Bottle Bill Study Session Scheduled

Supervisors Sam P. Karas and Karin Strasser Kauffman, in cooperation with the city of Monterey, are co-sponsoring a study session on implications to the Monterey Peninsula of AB 2020, the "Bottle Bill." The session will be held on Thursday, February 19, from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Monterey City Council Chambers.

Leading the discussion on the legislation will be Dennis Stone of the Division of Recycling, California Department of Conservation. Also making a presentation will be Alan Milner of 3-R Recycling, who has successfully designed and implemented resource recovery programs in Petaluma, Santa Rosa, San Jose and Burbank.

The meeting is a study session for those most directly responsible for the implementation of AB 2020. Carmel Valley residents are invited to observe.

Fifth Human Race Scheduled For May 9

Volunteers In Action, in conjunction with the W.W. & E.M. Clark Foundation, will sponsor the annual, community-wide HUMAN RACE for the Monterey Peninsula on Saturday, May 9.

The race is open for all non-profit organizations—agencies, schools, churches, and clubs. Last year, over 1,000 walkers representing 90 organizations raised $84,141.44. This year's goal is 1,500 walkers representing 100+ organizations raising $110,000.00.

An orientation meeting for interested agencies and individuals is scheduled for March 17, 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. at the YMCA, 404 Camino El Estero, Monterey.

For more information, call Lillian Berton, 373-6177.

Local Artists Invited To Display Works In Post Office

Postmaster Terry Williams of the Carmel Valley Post Office has set aside a wall in the inner lobby of the Post Office as a display wall for local artists. "This is not for selling the artists' works," Mr. Williams said, "but rather to display the work of the many talented people we have here in Carmel Valley." The display may be an oil or water painting, photography, pastels, pen and ink sketch, etc.; however, each exhibit must be framed and ready for hanging.

Art works will be received on a first come, first served basis. Artists who exhibit may place a business card or other identification on the painting.

For further information, please call Postmaster Williams or Ray Lindsay at 659-2776.

Revised Development

to review the new idea. It is gratifying to see that Michael Marquard, being community minded, is willing to considerably scale down his original idea. The Recreation and Park District looks forward to working with Michael Marquard on this issue."

Regarding the park district's desire to purchase the entire property, Marquard told the Sun, "Selling the entire property to the park district would not meet other goals that we think are also important for Carmel Valley Village. The area is zoned commercial, and the park district never tried to get it rezoned. We want to work with the park district, not against them, and what we are planning is very compatible with the park's needs."

529 Acre Gift To Park

The largest single gift of park land was accepted by the Board of Directors of the Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District at their meeting in February as a major addition to Garland Park in Carmel Valley.

Transfer of 529 acres of scenic land, known as the deDampierre parcel, is located east of the Garland Park and includes the existing Little League field north of the Carmel River, flat land south of the Carmel River, excluding 35 acres adjacent to the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club and scenic high ridge land along the south side of the Valley. Garland Park now totals 3,135 acres, the largest park and open space area on the Peninsula.

Tony deSugny of Carmel Valley, son of the late Mrs. Genevieve deDampierre, represented the family at the Board meeting. Other members of the deDampierre family include Joseph Casey, San Diego; France deSugny Bark, Stanford; and May deSugny MacDonald, Portola Valley.

E.J. Erner Elected To Head 1987 Mid Valley Fire District Board

E.J. Erner

E.J. "Gene" Erner was elected President of the Mid Carmel Valley Fire District Board of Directors, assuming the roll from Ann McGowan, who served during 1986. Erner was elected at the Board's January meeting.

Dr. Tim Heaston will continue as Board Secretary, a post he held last year.

Gene Erner was appointed to the Fire District Board by 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman in December, 1985. In addition to his position with the Fire District, he is on the Board of Directofs of the C.V. Kiwanis Club, and is a Past President and current member of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

Director Erner has been with Porter Marquard Realty since 1983, and serves as Chair of the Grievance Committee for the Carmel Board of Realtors.

It was the Navy that introduced the Erner family to the Monterey Peninsula. Prior to his retirement from the U.S. Navy, he attended the Naval Post Graduate School. The Erners found Carmel Valley to be a friendly place and resolved to return here. His wife and four daughters moved to Carmel Valley in 1976.

Erner's career with the Navy began as an enlisted man in 1950. He was commissioned in 1956, and served in both Korea and Vietnam. He commanded several destroyers and held shore commands. He was Chief of Staff, Middle East Naval Forces in the Persian Gulf-Indian Ocean when the Shah of Iran was deposed and U.S. Embassy personnel were taken hostage. His last tour, prior to his retirement in 1981, was in the Pentagon in Naval Research and Development. Erner holds a bachelor's degree in International Relations and a Master's Degree in Political Science.

Director Erner sees the Board's roll for 1987 as a continuation of their present roll, working to achieve the highest possible level of fire and life safety, and expanding on the prevention and education approach. The Fire District is growing, and in the coming years, the Board will consider improvements that will allow for increased demands for fire district services. Recent improvements include a computer which is used for record keeping and bookkeeping and which can interface with other local fire agencies.

"This Board is dedicated to provide both fire and emergency medical services to the people of the community," Erner said.

Committee appointments for the current operational and development standing committees, including Finance, Personnel, Planning, Prevention and Operations, Facilities and Insurance also were made.

CHEERLEADING COACHES WANTED

For more information, please call Mike Hagerty, 625-6110.

Pumper Vandalized

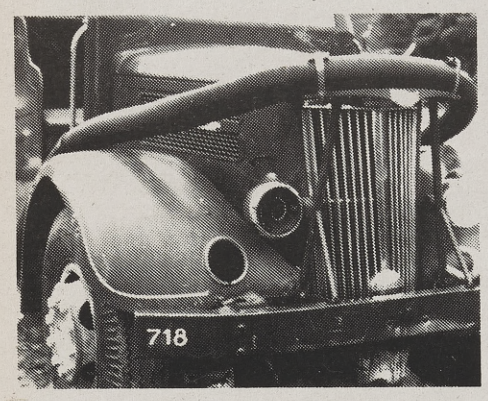
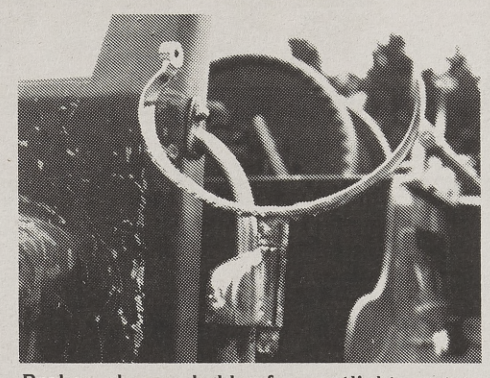
remaining years teaching and entertaining youngsters like the ones it had spent its life protecting.

This week, because of the cold brutality of people who get their kicks out of destruction, #718 is battered, half blind, scarred, and mutilated.

"We cannot replace what we've lost," said Louise Riddell Kaufman, Executive Director of the Community Center. "The things these people took are priceless; they cannot be replaced." She's right. No one makes parts for a 1948 Fire Pumper these days.



Vandalized Fire Pumper #718 with right headlight removed.



Broken chrome holder for spotlight next to driver's seat in #718. Note heavy scratch damage to left of holder.

Ms. Riddell Kaufman is convinced the vandalism and theft were planned. "We welded those parts to the pumper," she said. "They somehow undid the weld and took the headlight, the red light, and the siren. They had to have planned to do that." The scratching and marring were, perhaps, afterthoughts.

The future for #718 is uncertain. The town is shocked that any person or persons could be so vicious, so callous. People find it difficult to believe that someone, a someone who may even live in Carmel Valley, could do such a terrible thing.

Perhaps the Sheriff's Department will find the perpetrators; perhaps not. Whoever they are, wherever they are, the question remains...why?

Rim of front headlight, badly bent and twisted, was tossed over stanchion on top of Fire Truck.

No person is your enemy, no person is your friend, every person is your teacher.
